

California Small Farm Food Safety Workshops

The California Department of Food and Agriculture is excited to offer free multilingual training on good agricultural practices (GAP) to small producers.

Guidelines to be discussed include a checklist on such topics as record keeping, harvest activities, storage, transportation, and hygiene. Water testing and handling of manure will also be covered in this three hour session. See reverse side for the complete listing of training sites.

In addition to the presentations, CDFA will make available up to $200 for those qualified farmers who have their water/soil tested, or for those growers who have an informational or full GAP audit performed. Attendance at a workshop is not necessary for participation in the Cost Share program. For an application or more information regarding cost share, contact Vonya Feters at (559) 595-8000.
