

Community Conversations

CREATING SAFE SPACES

FOR LGBTQ+ YOUTH IN OUR SCHOOLS AND COMMUNITY

Growing up LGBTQ can expose young people to a lot of Criticism, Rejection, Assess and Pressure (CRAP) in their lives. This session is designed to provide participants with ideas for creating a safe and supportive environment for all young people, but specifically for LGBTQ youth. We will explore both institutional responses, including policies and practices for youth-serving organizations and strategies, and ideas for building assets with individuals.

Presenter: Clay Roberts

Clay Roberts is an author, consultant, program developer and nationally recognized speaker. Clay has been a senior consultant to Search Institute and has served as a prevention consultant to several state and federal agencies. This will be a highly engaging, practical session for anyone who has an important young person in their life.

We are most fortunate to have someone of Clay Robert's caliber to speak to our community about such an important and timely issue.

Intended Audience: Youth serving professionals, educators, parents and interested youth and adults.
